BRAZIL
UNITING AND REBUILDING

► ABDI, Brazilian Agency for Industrial Development

ABDI is an Autonomous Social Service created as a result of Law No 11,080 in December 2004. Since then, it promotes, stimulates and fosters industrialization in line with the Ministry of Development, Industry, Trade and Services (MDIC).

The Agency develops actions that help the country implement its industrial policy with digital transformation, energy transition and sustainability. ABDI does this in dialogue with the private productive sector and business organizations from all over the world.

Our Structure

➤ We have been operating since 2005

➤ Our headquarters are in Brasilia

➤ We operate in all of Brazil's regions

➤ Technical team made up by 78 staff members

A few partners

Our duties

ABDI's activities are guided by Multi-year Strategic Planning and a management contract with MDIC, built in line with the Federal Government's guidelines. It liaises between entities of the productive sector and government, striving to provide technical and operational support for formulating, monitoring and following up public policies.

►► What we do for Brazil?

»» How?

ABDI works with a large variety of projects and services.

Here are some of them!

Agro 4.0

Initiative that encourages and promotes the use of 4.0 technologies in agribusiness and efficiency, in addition to reducing costs in the sector's production chain.

Recircula Brasil

Platform aimed at tracking the country's plastic waste. Tracking occurs from its origin until it is reused as a raw material in the manufacturing of a new product.

HUBTEC, our Technological Order Office

Catalyst of the Brazilian State's purchasing power to promote innovation in the economy and solve social problems. We encourage public managers to invest in innovation, ensuring quality and legal certainty.

MetalIndustry

A bold innovation ecosystem with over 50 technology companies to promote Industry 4.0 in Brazil. 3D environment, metaverse and more.

Industry Observatory

Project maps the main data and information from different industrial production chains in the country, generating analysis and intelligence.

Jornada Digital

A knowledge and analysis track, so companies may understand how to move from analogue to digital, aligning their processes and business models with the 4.0 economy trends.

Startup Industry

It connects startups to companies in the Brazilian industry, encouraging the creation of prototypes and innovative solutions.

Destrava Brasil

Project aimed at implementing actions to reduce the Brazil Cost, such as developing technology to speed up processes.

BIM BR

We have the largest free BIM library in Brazil! We also promote best practices in BIM modelling in the country and training for professionals, in addition to encouraging the use of this tool in national civil construction.

Industry Intelligence

With the New Brazil Industry (NIB), launched in 2024, ABDI analyses and produces knowledge with data generated by different players of the production and financial system. Its expertise goes through a highly qualified team, with a vast technical and professional curriculum, operating every day within the Agency.

We have the NIB Monitor, which monitors the implementation of the industrial policy, generating analyses, as well as the Industry Observatory, which maps the different sectors of the industry, producing data intelligence.

ABDI also generates information, research and builds analytical intelligence in different fields. Through the DATA ABDI project, it offers access to a varied and detailed range of information on different niches of the economy and society.

Governments and Partners

ABDI prepares and performs partnership agreements, both with the Government as a contracting party (running resources) and with partners as grantors (making resources available), with specific goals in order to fulfil its institutional mission.

Beneficiaries

The Agency calls beneficiaries those who directly benefit from its products and services. Thus, the following two are the main actors ABDI interacts with:

productive sector

— reason for the agency's existence

public sector

— Important partner to leverage
results for the productive sector

Relationship with Partners

» Models

There are three types of partnership agreements that may be signed with ABDI

1. Technical and financial cooperation

2. Research, development and innovation

3. Sponsorship

» With whom

Non-profit legal entities governed by private law;

For profit legal entities governed by private law;

Legal entities governed by public law (government entities, states, municipalities);

Partnership agreements can also be signed with individuals.

»» International

The Agency also establishes dialogue and partnership with productive sectors from all over the world, within its institutional mission of fostering an innovative and sustainable Brazilian industrial policy. It acts as a contact point through a team able to communicate and presente partnership possibilities.

Parliamentary Advisory

ABDI's Parliamentary Advisory Office (Aspar) acts as a bridge between the institution and the National Congress, as well as the Federal District's, state and municipal governments. Aspar's role is to coordinate legislative agenda topics, of interest to ABDI, as well as following up, supporting, monitoring proposals, and publish regular reports on proceedings at the Federal Legislative level.
